

David G. Lang

As Senior Sales Associate, David's concentration is focused on the evaluation, sale and leasing of office property as well as evaluating the needs of his clients. David relocated to Cleveland from Rochester, NY where he was Leasing Manager for Wilmorite Inc., managing a portfolio of six office properties in the downtown market. In addition, David managed one of the largest properties in downtown Rochester, a 1.1 million square foot office and retail structure known as "Sibley Centre."

His well-rounded background in commercial space planning, project management, and as a small business owner himself enhances his ability to serve his clients needs. With this experience David has a first-hand knowledge of the issues and challenges that clients, business owners, and business executives face on a daily basis.

As one of the founding members of the Preservation Commission in Brighton, NY, a legally binding governmental body, David spent five years researching, identifying and designating properties that were to be protected by the Preservation Commission. He also served as part of the historic architectural review board for these protected structures that were undergoing historic restoration or rehabilitation. David's personal interest was to maintain a pragmatic view on preservation and find functional solutions for owners of historic properties.

Current civic involvements include the Chagrin Falls Preservation Society, Board Member NE Ohio Chapter of the Arthritis Foundation, and Board Member Beachwood Chamber of Commerce. David holds two degrees, one in Commercial Art and one in Commercial Photography.
